

George H. Coffin returned Saturday from a trip to Kansas City and the exposition at Omaha. He reports the exposition as well worth going to see and the attendance as being large.

A. E. Douglas of the Lowell observatory left Monday for a trip to eastern cities. He will, however, make his principal stay in Boston, Mass. He will return in time to take observations of the November fall of meteors.

Last week Will Frederick was arrested on the charge of unlawfully killing cattle, the specific charge being made that he shot a cow belonging to the Aztec Cattle company. Monday he was tried in Justice Milligan's court before a jury, who returned a verdict of not guilty.

Lieut. Wiley Jones of the First Territorial regiment accompanied his regiment as far as this place Saturday and returned to Prescott Sunday. Lieut. Jones was left in charge of the post at Fort Whipple until such a time as the sick soldiers who were left in the hospital can be moved.

Thos. Sloan, a former telegraph operator on the Santa Fe Pacific and who volunteered in the signal corps in the war with Spain, is visiting friends here. Tom did not, much to his regret, get nearer Cuba than Tampa, the war being of too short duration to allow him to get to the front.

Rev. H. P. Corser, who has filled the Presbyterian pulpit at this place for the past three years, left on Tuesday for Stroud, Okla., where he has been called. It is with deep regret that the community witnesses Mr. Corser's departure. His labors here have been fruitful of permanent benefit, especially among the young men and boys with whom he is very popular, and over whom he has always exerted a strong influence for good. He is an earnest, practical, generous man, and he will be long held in kindly remembrance by the people of Flagstaff.

Elwin E. Rogers, farmer for the Moki Indians, and Mr. Brossius, a representative for the Indian Rights association, were in town from Tuba City several days this week. In regard to the trouble between the whites and Indians at that place, they say it will be satisfactorily settled ere long.

John Chisholm and daughter Tina returned from Holbrook Thursday by team. Mr. Chisholm says that the trip crossing Canyons Diablo and Padre is a hard one, as the team could scarcely get up the sides of the canyons with an empty wagon. Mr. Chisholm had the contract for delivering the stone and brick for building the Navajo county court house and finished his contract last Saturday.

Dan Hogan of the Rough Riders returned Thursday. Dan is the center of attraction wherever he goes, and was one of the bravest of the brave members of the famous regiment. He was in the battles of La Guasimas, El Caney and San Juan, and the exposure at Santiago caused him to contract malarial fever. He was in the hospital at Montauk, N. Y., for several weeks, and he thinks that he has fully recovered from the attack.

A GENTLEMAN of democratic tendencies, who was a staunch supporter of Mr. Ellinwood at the Prescott convention, remarked, after the republicans had nominated Col. Brodie, that he was glad his man was defeated; that the hero of La Guasimas would have a walk-over. He is a prophet with honor in his own country, too.
